

Leading ladies at the DJC

The Dorset Junior Chamber (DJC) is pleased to announce the appointments of the President and Vice-President for their 2009-10 year. Katie Wilson takes on the position of President, with Kathryn Sutcliffe voted into her role as Vice-President by the DJC Council.

The two professionals are already popular and prolific amongst the local networking community. Katie is the figurehead of signage and graphics company Letters and Logos, and Kathryn is the PA to the directors at Inspire Professional Services. Both will be offering their spare time to help lead the DJC's volunteer council.

The new DJC President, Katie Wilson, is looking forward to an active year, stating: "My role is committed to taking the DJC forward. Over the past 18 months, the group has been stabilised and placed on a solid footing. We now want to build on that through energy, flexibility, focus and professionalism."

Vice President Kathryn Sutcliffe adds: "I am delighted to take on this role. The DJC enjoyed an excellent 2008 with over 100 passionate members who gave excellent support. It encourages friendships, professional relationships and referred business in social environments that are un-pressurised."
